

Max mole squeezed himself into the Labyrinth following the scent of something delicious. Little cakes were scattered everywhere, which smelled better than worms! They looked far too tasty to share with Tilda mole who was not far behind him, so he scoffed them all as fast as he could! 43

Tilda crashed into the Labyrinth not long after Max. It smelled like cake in here, but all she found were crumbs. There was Max asleep with a fat tummy. 'I bet he ate all the cakes the greedy thing,' she grumbled whilst snuffling up the crumbs. Then she went off to find her tea elsewhere. 44
